The design information contained in this manual is intended to provide guidance beyond legislative and standard design practices for use in the City of London (the City). There will be site specific situations where the design will depart from these practices as it is not possible nor is it the intention of the City to anticipate every situation. The City intends to review and revise the Manual from time to time. The City also acknowledges that other references such as the ‘Standard Contract Documents for Municipal Construction Projects’ are to be used in conjunction with this manual. The 2012 update of this manual incorporates design information from the City’s former Subdivision & Development Guide Manual to provide consistent and current design information for development projects.

The City of London maintains its right to accept or refuse any design submissions and requires an acceptable design for any given circumstance.